

Antichrist & the Cube 10-25-22 (uploaded 7-10-23)

It began, this dream I had, with me watching a closeup of a man's hand holding a Rubik's Revenge Cube game in his hands, and he's trying to deftly open it. His hands are well formed, light-colored and well-shaped, and appear strong somehow even though they seem as if they have seen very little manual work, if any.

I can see him from the neck down. He is wearing a black suit. A fine suit with satin lapels and a crisp white button up shirt. He has a black small bow-tie at his neck, and his shirt has little white ruffles on it that are going vertically up and down. This man is formally dressed for some great event, but he is furiously trying to work this Rubik Revenge Game to no avail.

I watch as he twists and turns it, move after move, but then the cube does not cooperate for this man. It is still a jumbled mess of different colors. He yells something out angrily, and I hear it yet I don't understand it. But I see another man enter in a grey business suit with an open sheet of paper with words written upon it. There are many words written here that I can see, but it's not English. It's another language.

I was able to read it somehow and understood. The grey-suited man is holding out the instructions on how to solve the Rubik's Revenge game in the other man's hand. He's holding it out for the man dressed in the black formal attire to now be able to solve the cube that has been to him a most difficult task.

I watch as he makes turn upon turn of this game at hand but it's never completed. He works so furiously until the stickers designating the different colors of the cube began coming off. I see that the cube is totally black in its color beneath it. The stickers are on his hands as well as the sticky substance, the glue I assume that was attaching the stickers to the Rubik's Revenge Game, to the cube. He's getting angry.

I feel in this dream he needs to solve this cube for some very important reason. It's very important that he obtains the knowledge for himself so he can solve this puzzle, but he fails. I hear the man let out a string of angry words in another language, and I can feel in my spirit he is cursing. Now he's cursing my God, and I'm getting angry.

The once colorful cube is now totally black with all its stickers removed, and upon him, from where he had tried to solve it. All that remains upon the now black cube is the glue residue that once held the different color stickers upon it in their original designated places.

I see now the man's head, but he's looking down at his hands. He is angry, so angry. His hair is well trimmed, cut short, but there is some natural wave in his dark colored hair. He growls in anger, then casts the now black cube to the floor. He still does not know how to solve this now solid black cube, even with the printed instructions.

He lifts his head up, straightens his bowtie and fancy jacket, and removes all the stickers off his hands. Then my eyes are finally drawn to the face of the man. It's the man I know as antichrist. He says a few curt words to the man in the grey suit who had taken the stickers from him, then he turns and walks out of the room. I can tell by the sound of the erupting applauses and cheers he has just entered another.

My eyes focused on the discarded now black Rubik's Revenge Cube laying upon the floor. It didn't break when antichrist had thrown it down hastily in anger, but neither is it still a glue-stained plastic toy. It is now of smooth, shiny black metal with no grooves of any kind. It has a totally smooth finish. It's not a Rubik's Revenge Cube anymore, but the cube from heaven I have seen by vision so many times before.

I feel if he had had the real cube, even if he couldn't open it, knowing its worth, he would not have disregarded it so casually. He was trying with all he had to learn its secrets on how to work it, to complete it, even to open it. He's trying to prepare in advance how to use the black cube if he were to obtain it. I know in this dream, but apparently, my God Jesus Christ has told him NO.
